Circular

The Central Vigilance Commission (CVC) had observed, after conducting a detailed study that more often than not, anonymous/pseudonymous complaints are becoming a source of harassment and blackmailing for Public Servants rather than bringing out corrupt activities against them, it has been decided that as a matter of policy, such complaints should not be entertained.

It has been observed in the recent past that number of anonymous/pseudonymous complaints are pouring in from some disgruntled element in DTTDC, which hampers the working of the Corporation and have demoralising effect on one and all.

A person will resort to anonymous or pseudonymous complaints because of the following reasons:-

- i) He is an honest person who is a whistle blower but he is afraid to reveal his identity because of fear of consequences of the powerful elements in the organization.
- ii) He is blackmailer who wants to psychologically pressurise the public servant complained against.

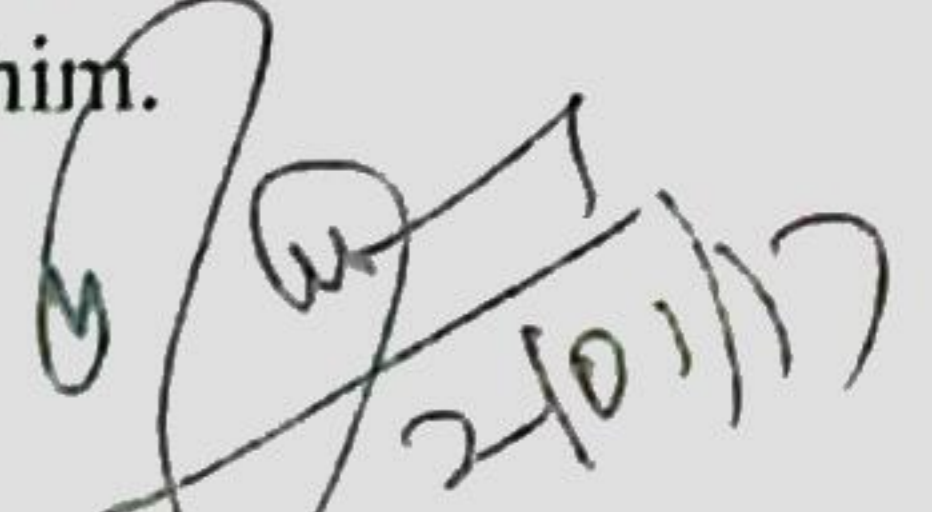

There could be a view that if the anonymous /pseudonymous complaints contain an element of truth and if no action is to be taken on them then an important source of information will be lost. Central Vigilance Commission has initiated a number of steps to provide a channel of communication against the corrupt public servants. These measures include the following:-

- i) Junior officer can complain to the CVO /CVC in cases of corruption against the seniors.
- ii) The CVC has issued instructions that the name of the complainant will not be revealed when the complaint is sent to the appropriate authorities for getting their comments or launching inquiries.
- iii) DTTDC has a display board depicting that no bribe should be paid. If any bribe is demanded, the complaint should be made to the appropriate authority like CVO, CVC etc.

- iv) If anybody wants to complain they can easily lodge complaints by sending email on tourism@delhitourism.gov.in.

All concerned are hereby advised to refrain from making such anonymous/pseudonymous complaints. The Vigilance Division is keeping a close watch on such elements and if any employee of the Corporation is found involved in such type of activity, strict action shall be taken against him.
